Design Theme:

Jersey City's Railroad and Ferry History

Jersey City was once the country's largest train terminus with 14 trains terminating on the Jersey City and Hoboken side of the Hudson River. The port of New York is the largest port in the world, and once accounted for more than 50% of the country's imports and exports, and the railroads dominated over 150 acres of Jersey City's waterfront property. While most of the train tracks, freight yards and ferry terminals have long since been replaced by high-rises and new luxury living, the legacy of Jersey City's ferry and rail history has indelibly influenced the growth and rise of the city as a whole.
